The Exposition opens to-morrow at 7 o'clock p.m. in the Exposition Building. It opens this evening in our full and crowded columns.

The pressure of advertising to-day compels us to hold over a column under the head of "Discrimination." It relates to some freight matters and will appear to-morrow.

Tax threatened Wahab strike has been averted; Germany and Spain will not fight over the Carolines; peace reigns everywhere except between the Kuds and the Colonels.

One hardly knows which to admire most—the folly of the St. Louis railroad managers, who are destroying their own business by over-charges, or the cowardice of the St. Louis merchants who submit to it.

The Americans who rashly undertook to work a coal mine in Mexico have had their mine shut up for the third time. Mexico offers a great many inducements to capital to stay away from the country.

The Trades Assembly of Chicago did the right thing in refusing to allow the red flag of communism to appear in its procession. There is a very wide gulf between the workmen who want to get what belongs to them and the Chicago agitators who want to get what belongs to everybody else.

DEMONSTRATIONS against Germany in other countries are beginning to annoy BISMARCK. As a quiet, home-keeping power that used its strength only to unite and defend Germany, the Empire of WILLIAM and BISMARCK had the good will of all the world, except France and Russia. But the aggressive policy of the two old fellows has become so far-reaching that it is liable to make enemies and breed hostile combinations which they cannot live to combat.

As there is danger that the millionaires of St. Louis will fail to subscribe the necessary funds for the illumination, the St. Louis News Company comes forward with a contribution representing the results of a twenty-five cent collection among the employees. We are satisfied that it is a safe thing to begin the work of construction; and if the money does not come in from the subscription books, it will come in from the people.

We cannot severely blame the directors of the Exposition for banishing Eve and Zuleika from the precincts of a building in which it was feared that the scanty costume of these two ladies might offend the country cousins. We remember that in Rome, the cradle of art, a modest Pope felt compelled to put tin brooches on the sculptured angels at the bases of the pillars in St. Peter's, and the garments are worn to this day. Let us admire the subtle ingenuity which recommends Eve and Zuleika and also Mrs. Potiphar to the more congenial atmosphere of the Crow Museum, and let us rejoice that after the decorous elimination of these thoughtless ladies the art gallery of the Exposition still contains a most admirable collection of paintings.

THE METROPOLITAN PRESS.

What the Editors of the New York Journals are Saying To-Day.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, September 8.—The WORLD says: "The bloody shirt business in Ohio is summarily settled by the Charleston, S. C., News, which knows how the Southern negroes are treated, and which reminds Mr. Foraker and his Republican friends that the second emancipation of the negroes within the last quarter of a century was brought about with the change of administration, March 4, 1865, when they were forever freed from the second and more dangerous bondage, with their soul-degrading bonds, and their political party with which Mr. Foraker is identified."

The Sun says: "Mr. Sunday's sermon can be a safe ground for estimate, we should think, as to whether Mr. Newman was the historian of Gen. Grant, he would give no more truthful a representation of the man than he did when he died of Washington. Grant never swore, but there was no malice in his words about him."

The Times says: "The statements made by Senator Harrison in Chicago indicate that the action taken by President Cleveland, in reference to the Credit Committee, in which he will be approved by the Senate committee that has been appointed to investigate the case, Cleveland pronounced President Arthur's proclamation null and void, and directed the misguided senators to depart in due days."

THE TRIBUNE says: "Another unfortunate for the present administration is that it seems to have been disposed to conduct the financial operations in some secret and subterranean fashion, as if there were something to be ashamed of. Every step taken is naturally watched with not a little suspicion, and particularly by those who are not in sympathy with the administration. It is likely to be antagonistic to their financial opinions. When the President announced his belief that the carriage of silver dollars ought to be suspended, he took a position which could be completely defended, even from the point of view of the most earnest believer in bimetallism. Had his action been the result of a frank admission that it was both right and his duty to use all the powers entrusted to him under the existing laws to maintain gold coinage in the United States, he would certainly have been criticized less by everybody else, and could not have been criticized more by himself. But the course taken has been such in several particulars, that the advocates of silver coinage are likely to see that the administration with great difficulty, with many unpopularity, changes of the law, as soon as Congress assembles.

FATHER.

THE NUDE OFFICIALLY.

Mr. Keasard Speaks of the Uneducated Public, and Mr. Petes Replies.

Correspondence relative to the removal of the nude pictures from the Exposition Art Display has passed between Mr. H. B. Petes and Mr. S. M. Keasard. The letter to Mr. Petes reads as follows:

Dear Sirs—After careful deliberation we have come to the conclusion that the paintings of the nude, "Aviata's," "Zuleika," and "Caucasian's," "Eve" and "Potiphar's Wife," had better not be exhibited for the present at the forthcoming Exposition. This decision has been reached reluctantly, and solely for fear of causing unnecessary offense to that portion of the public who are not fully educated in art matters. As to the merit of the paintings from a strictly artistic standpoint we have nothing but words of praise to say; they, in common with the works of Veronese, are to be commended upon their judgment.

THE I. C. B. U.

The Conventions of the Irish and German Catholic Societies To-Morrow.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.
New York, September 8.—To-morrow morning the seventeenth annual convention of the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union will be held in Brooklyn. Delegates will be present from different states, and many of them are instructed to vote for a vigorous denunciation of the rejection of A. M. Kelley as American Minister to Italy and Austria. Mr. Kelley was for a number of years president of the I. C. B. U., and only resigned the office when notified of his appointment to the supposed more important one to Italy. Before doing so, in deference to the German Roman Catholic Central Verein, he issued the following announcement to the societies of the I. C. B. U., otherwise the convention would have been held in New York on September 8.

Hans von Schleicher, the honored president of the German Roman Catholic Central Verein, having called my attention to the circumstances that the annual convention of the I. C. B. U. was to be held this year in Brooklyn on the 8th and following days of September, while the convention of the I. C. B. U. was to be held in the neighboring city of New York on the 8th and following days of September, and having expressed an earnest desire that that two unions should assemble at the same time and place, I addressed him a circular letter, in which I was sure, could concur, I addressed a circular to all members of the Executive Committee, inviting their union to be present if they would, and with a single exception (and on account of the opposition of the committee) unanimously approves it. Relying on the sanction of our brethren throughout the Union, and on the unanimous approval of the Executive Committee, I hereby give notice to the seventeenth annual convention of the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union will assemble in Brooklyn on Wednesday, September 8, 1885, in order to provide, as far as may be possible, an opportunity for the two affiliated societies to be present at this convention if they would.

A. M. KELLEY,
President, I. C. B. U.

well deserved Central Union, whose president your Honor is, as well as the signs of a steady growth in the future of the same society. One of the signs of future growth is in the annual convention of the delegates of the Catholic benevolent societies, which is to be held in Brooklyn September 8. Mr. Holloman hoped that it would be well attended, but that it would come to wise conclusion, and his Holloman sends the convention itself and every one of its delegates the Holy Father has concluded to name the Central Society a German Cardinal as a protector, but as his Holloman has not yet decided whether he should call this honor to come to him. Enclosed the Cardinal Franzen, or his Eminence the Cardinal Mercier. I will be able to inform you of his decision in due time.

In the meantime I send you the heartfelt thanks of Derry for your loving remembrance of him at your seventy-seventh convention, consisting of a letter of thanks enclosed. Expressing my utmost esteem for his Honor, YOUR SERVANT,

L. CARDINAL JACOBSON.

Burglaries of Rheumatism Repaired.

This is worth reading. It is from a well-known lady of Batavia, N. Y. "I write to inform you of the fact that my son, a young man of twenty-three years old was afflicted with rheumatism, which greatly impeded his health. Six months ago I began taking the water. The improvement surprised me all day long, and I am now perfectly cured. Signed, Mary E. Garry." This valuable remedy can be had of any druggist.

A NEW REPUBLIC.

St. Lucia Bay Annexed to the Territory of Dominica.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.
New York, September 8.—For some time past St. Lucia, situated northeast of Natal, between the frontier of that colony and Delagoa Bay, has been coveted not only by the native neighboring states but also by the European Powers, especially by Germany and England. The Territory of St. Lucia belonged to the late Cetewayo, King of Zululand, and since his death appeared to be held by his successor, Diazionion, but the latter had many competitors, notably the Chief Panda. The discord that existed between these two chiefs was calculated to facilitate the attempts of adventurers desirous of occupying so rich a country, that seemed to be awaiting a master. Hence Natal, the Transvaal, the Cape, England and Germany all seemed to put in their claims. At the beginning of the year Germany seemed disposed to proclaim her protectorate, one of the subjects having sprung from the native population of the island. England protested and claimed the right of occupying St. Lucia in virtue of a treaty passed in 1848 with King Panda, and in virtue of the Zulu, Germany loosed her grip and Engaged herself with the United KINGDOM.

UNDETERRED BY THE TERRAINT, when within the last few days the announcement was made that the United Kingdom had taken possession of the bay. This news was not correct; it is not the Republic of the Transvaal, but a new Republic, and not a part of the United Kingdom, which has annexed the bay and holds it, awaiting the recognition of the Powers, and especially of England. The President of the new Republic, John Moore, has been dressed to all the Cabnets a circular, wherein he explains the rights of the new Republic to the Powers. In this circular he writes: "We, the Island and renamed four weeks. He declares the act at W. H. Moore, commandant of Her Majesty's ship Goshawk, who on December 14, 1884, at St. Lucia, and released him in the name of the Queen, and informed him that he had made the treaty spoken of, and was not empowered to make it, if he did, without the consent of his chief. Moore, however, said that in the name of the new republic, he annexed the said Zulu territory and proclaimed to the world that henceforth and forever, St. Lucia shall be a free port for all nations, and will be open to all nations, and with characteristic Dutch frankness, the new President concludes: "Everybody who evades this will do so at his own risk and according to his own counsel admitted there was none, and it was never pressed."

OSCAR PARRY'S SUICIDE.

The Boy Grieved for His Mother, From Whom He Was Separated.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

HARTFORD, Conn., September 8.—The death by suicide in Philadelphia on Sunday morning of the 11-year-old son of Wm. H. Parry, formerly of this city, caused special interest here from the fact that the troubles of the father and mother of the boy have been publicly known for the past three years. It is not believed here that the boy shot himself because of mental disturbances growing out of his reading a sensational newspaper story, other experts are more likely to have affected his mind by brain fever, his father, for many years, held a responsible and lucrative position with the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, and his home was an exceptionally pleasant one. His relations with his family were extremely happy. In 1882 he left home for Ward's Island and remained four weeks. The letter he wrote to his wife was the most endearing character, but upon his return in September, Mrs. Parry was compelled to dismiss him on account of his conduct. He was no longer affectionate. THE CIVIL COURTS.

A Young Girl Said to be Restrained by a Fortune-Teller.

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus was filed this morning in the Circuit Court by F. T. Ledergerber in behalf of George Bohleber, residing at 2914 Lamp Avenue. Mr. Bohleber is the father of a comely little maiden of 18 years, Katie Bohleber, who has been attending the Garfield School. During the long summer vacation the little girl was anxious to be doing something and her father gave her permission to seek a situation in some respectable house. She did so, and was engaged as a domestic with Mrs. Bertha Wupper, residing at 1026 South Thirtieth street, one door south of Chouteau avenue. After a short time, however, she discovered that her little daughter was domiciled with a professional fortune-teller and he turned to the personal attorney of a prominent lawyer, whom she found the same day. Her daughter's employer regularly advertised. He sent for his child and told her that he wished that she would at once return home. When she refused, he threatened to sue her for damages. Her father appeared on the scene, but the child, it is alleged, was not allowed to approach him a third time. The father then sought the law.

Mr. Wupper told the officer that the girl had a sweet heart and it was for her best interest that she declined to go back to her parents. The question was put to the girl and she answered and blushed and hid her face in her hands, sobbing violently. The father then went away and consulted an attorney as to the recovery of possession of his child by force.

THE WRIT GRANTED.

The application for the writ of habeas corpus was granted by Justice Miller. In other words, this morning, he read the petition and signed the writ to issue at once, returnable to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A Woman's Distress.

Mrs. Schrader, a pale-faced, emaciated little woman bearing all the evidences of refinement, came into the Recorder's office to-day seeking advice and assistance. She said that her husband and family resided at St. Joseph, and some time since she came to the city to seek medical treatment for a delicate case. She remained here with her sister until she felt that she could no longer bear the cost. Her husband, having met with reverses, could not furnish her with the means to return home, and fearing a relapse of her return home, she very much desired to get back to St. Joseph.

Mr. Kinney, after investigating the matter, became convinced that it was a case calling for aid from the Mayor's relief fund. He gave Mrs. Schrader a receipt according to the Mayor's directions. A short time afterwards stating that the letter had been opened by the Secretary, who declined to do anything for her, he returned to furnish her with a railroad pass for St. Joseph.

Mr. Kinney then made up a little purse among the clerks in the Recorder's office to help the poor woman on her way.

SUIT FOR SERVICES.

E. C. Eiseman died suit in the Circuit Court today against the Mermad-Jaccard Jewelry Company. He alleges that he was engaged by the company as a salesman for one year, beginning September 1, 1884, and ending October 1, 1884. On the 1st of October, 1884, he alleges that he was discharged without cause, and he sues judgment against the company for $700 10.

MURDERERS BAKED.

The Horrible Death of the Folk Brothers in the Jail at Murfreesboro, Ark.

HOPKINS, September 8.—News was received here yesterday of the final and successful attempt to lynch the Folk brothers, confined in the Murfreesboro, Ark., jail. Attempts have been made from time to time to shoot the prisoners, but on no occasion were these attempts successful, owing to the peculiar construction of the jail. This is the fourth attempt made. On other occasions unsuccessful attempts were made to kill the prisoners with dynamite and by setting their bedding on fire. This time it brought cordwood and lumber into the jail and piled them around the cells and incited the bakers to the prisoners. The crime of the Folk brothers, Syvester and Henry, was the killing of a peddler named Ward in August, 1884. They were tried and found guilty, but the Supreme Court remanded the case for re-trial.

SHOT IN THE HEART.

M. Harlan, of Wilmington, Ohio, commits suicide in a Chicago Hotel.

CHICAGO, September 8.—The body of a well-dressed man, apparently 30 years of age, was found lying in a bed in a room at the Windsor Hotel, on Dearborn street, this morning, with a bullet wound in the region of the heart. He arrived at the hotel yesterday, and registered at the Hotel, of which he was a regular customer. It is believed that he evidently shot himself while lying on the floor.

It has since been learned that the suicide was named John Harlan, and he is reported as a rent collector in this city. No cause is assigned for the deed.

DESTRUCTIVE MAIL.

Fields of Corn and Tobacco in Maryland devastated by a Hail Storm.

PEERLESS, Md., September 8.—The most destructive hail storm ever known in this section occurred Saturday evening. Entire fields of corn and tobacco were destroyed. In many fields not even a leaf of tobacco was left on the stalks. Stalks were completely stripped from the stalks while little more than half ripe. The hail storm was the most severe in the history of the state generally where the storm struck. The damage in Charles County is estimated at $100,000.

THE "CONFERENCE" ALL OVER.

OBITUARY.

Death of Hon. Edward A. Rollins, Ex-Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

PHILADELPHIA, September 8.—Hon. Edward A. Rollins, President of the Centennial Bank of this city, died yesterday at Hanover, N. H., where he had been since early in July on a visit to his mother.

In 1853 Mr. Rollins was appointed Collector of Internal Revenue of New Hampshire, his first appointment of a government office, and in 1854 he became Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and in 1855 was promoted to the position of Commissioner, which office he filled until 1866, when he resigned.

Ammonia in Baking Powder.

From the Scientific American.

Among the recent discoveries in science and chemistry, none is more important than the uses to which common ammonia can be properly put as a leavening agent, and which indicate that this familiar substance may be used to perform an active part in the production of our daily food.

The carbonate of ammonia is an exceedingly volatile substance. Place a small portion of it upon a knife and hold over a flame, and it will almost immediately be entirely dissolved into gas and passed into the air. The gas thus formed is a simple composition of nitrogen and hydrogen. No residue is left from the ammonia. This gives it its superiority as a leavening power over soda and cream of tartar used alone, and has induced its use as a supplement to these articles. A small quantity of ammonia in the dough is effective in producing bread that will be lighter, sweeter, and more wholesome than that risen by any other leavening agent.

When it is acted upon by the heat of baking, it decomposes and gives off ammonia gas.

In this act it uses itself up, as it were; the ammonia is entirely diffused, leaving no trace or residuum whatever. The light, gaseous ammonia is absorbed by the flour, and is retained by the proteinic foods.

Ammonia is one of the best known products of the laboratory, and is justly claimed for it, the application of its properties to the purposes of cooking results in giving us lighter and more delicious breads, biscuits, and cakes, with a broader and more varied range, and will speedily force its use into general use in the new field to which science has assigned it.

He then adjourned to a final decision until his return to Tennessee from a meeting of the Army of the Tennessee. He will meet the Board Monday night.

THE WAR OF RACES.

Peace holds at Chattanooga—The Funeral of Nanny and Williams. By Telegraph to the Post-Democrat.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—Tuesday, Sept. 8.—The city is comparatively quiet after last night. About 8 a.m., the crowd of negroes which had gathered in the outskirts of the city, dispersed and went to their houses. The white men patrolled the manufacturing districts all night. About noon, the crowd of negroes, who were drinking, and the negro provoked them by attempting to push his way on the pavement, and gave him a blow. Fully naked, he was broken, was buried this morning. Nanny, the young book-keeper, who was killed in the collision of races, was also buried. No further trouble is apprehended.
